

A pronoun agrees with the noun it replaces. A singular pronoun replaces a singular noun.

A plural pronoun replaces a plural noun.

The pronouns we, you, and they can take the place of a plural noun or a noun and a pronoun together.

Circle the pronoun that correctly completes the sentence.

1. Mary and I are eating lunch. (We, They) will have pizza.
2. Kim and Carly are in the lunchroom. (They, You) are waiting for us.
3. We will ask Max or Brie to help us with our tray. (We, They) are helpers in the lunchroom.
4. Jane and I are good friends. (She, We) have known each other for a long time.
5. People help clean up the mess. (We, They) are good citizens.
6. Our class reads a lot of books. (You, We) are getting smarter every day.
7. Kate helps me with my homework. (She, We) study for our test.
8. Wade and Kyle, thank you for helping us. (We, You) are good friends.